Few changes have been made in the document which, while couched in friendly terms, is firm. It was transmitted to Berlin last night.

AMERICA GAINS A VALUABLE MUSEUM

ACQUIRED BY JOHNS HOPKINS MEDICAL SCHOOL OF BALTIMORE

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, May 13.—The London Medical Graduates College and Polytechnic on Chancery street, for many years a small but prominent center of medical research, has been closed. Its most important feature, the Hutchinson museum, has been acquired by the Johns Hopkins Medical School of Baltimore.

The museum represents the life work of the late Sir Jonathan Hutchinson, one of the greatest clinicians of his times. The collection consists of original colored drawings, several hundred in number, plates, engravings, woodcuts, and photographs.

The Lancet, commenting on the transfer of the museum to America, says: "The loss to this country is to be deplored, but it has found a home in the most famous of American medical schools, where it may be put to greater use than here, as the teaching which it embodies must be less familiar there."

ROYAL RIFLE CORPS HOLDS THE RECORD

HAS FORTY REGIMENTAL DECORATIONS TO ITS CAP BADGES

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, May 13.—The regiment which holds the record for battle honors in the entire British army is the King's Royal Rifle Corps, which has the right to attach forty regimental decorations to its cap badges.

The regiment was originally raised in 1755 in the American colonies, now the United States, and was first known as the Royal American Regiment of Foot. The present name was adopted in 1830.

It is said to have been the first British regiment to be armed with the rifle, which was introduced into the British army in 1794. The regiment's motto, "Celer et Audax" (swift and daring), was conferred upon it for gallant conduct by General Wolfe at Quebec.

AUSTRALIA HAS MORE INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES

COMPULSORY ARBITRATION APPEARS TO BE OF NO AVAIL

(By Associated Press.)
MELBOURNE, Australia, May 13.—The theory that strikes and other industrial disturbances can be obliterated by compulsory arbitration, and the somewhat popular belief that Australia by reason of its employment of that means of meeting labor troubles is virtually free from them, are given a somewhat negative aspect by figures which have just been made available by the commonwealth statistician, G. H. Knibbs, covering the year 1914.

In that period the total number of industrial disputes was 337 against 268 in the year 1913, the increase being due almost wholly to labor troubles in New South Wales, mainly at collieries. The total estimated loss in wages was $2,427,303 which was nearly 74 per cent greater than in the preceding year. In all 71,049 persons were involved.

Since the outbreak of the war there has been no material reduction in the number of disputes. Indeed Mr. Knibbs' figures show the number of new disputes during the last quarter of 1914 was 78, or 10 in excess of the average quarterly number for the years 1913 and 1914.

LONDON, May 13.—Flies are considered so dangerous a foe that a staff of entomologists have been engaged to inaugurate an anti-fly campaign at the British front. IGNACE PADEREWSKI APPEALS FOR AID

NOTED PIANIST ASKS RELIEF IN AMERICA FOR HIS COUNTRYMEN

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, May 13.—Ignace Jan Paderewski, the pianist, who has come to America to organize relief for Polish victims of the war, hopes to be able shortly to announce the personnel of a national American relief committee. He has been seeking as members prominent men and women who will consolidate the work of several Polish relief committees already organized.

Mr. Paderewski today issued an appeal, in which he said:

"The European war is, on the eastern front, raging exclusively over Polish soil. It is sweeping away every sign of civilization and an area equal in size to New York and Pennsylvania has been laid waste. Two hundred towns, 1400 churches, 7500 villages have been ruined. The losses in property destroyed and in agricultural, industrial and commercial productions brought to a standstill, amount to $2,500,000,000."

"Almost eleven millions of helpless women and children, homeless peasants and unemployed workmen have been driven into the open. Thousands are hiding among the ruins, in woods or in hollows, feeding on roots and the bark of trees. To concentrate the efforts of all who may be touched by so appalling a distress a general Polish relief committee has been formed on neutral soil, in Lausanne, Switzerland. The president of that committee is Henryk Stenkiewicz, the writer; its members are all men of high standing, united by the desire to lessen the suffering of our countrymen without distinction of race, religion or political opinion."

"Unfortunately, though well organized, having its agencies in every part of the country, our committee could accomplish comparatively little. The funds put into our hands were extremely modest. Poland has nothing more to give, for she is ruined and the interest and sympathy of other countries are absorbed by other worthy causes."

"In the name of Christian charity, in the name of common humanity, I therefore appeal to the great American people. They have already given much to other stricken nations; they may be tired of giving; yet I am certain there is no soul in Reports indicate that the allies have won successes in the land fighting at Dardanelles. The bombardment of forts has been resumed.
